You may know Tommi Clark as the creative and delightful manager of Good Girl Art and we are excited to host her flirty and fun show at A&L. From Tommi: "Snuggly hats and cutesie underpants made from locally sourced upcyclables are fun and one-of-a-kind, like you! Even better, buying local from local artists trims one's carbon footprint to the size of the neighborhood. Art pieces you can wear that satisfy your green impulse! Sustainable fashion is a win-win, my friends." Tommi is a local girl who is happily reworking things every day to keep her friends and neighbors from shaming themselves at the mall." C Bookmarx, 325 E. Walnut St., Ste. 101, presents Featured Artist Cassandra Parker in October. From Artist Cassandra Parker: "Since childhood I have been a fan of Halloween, cartoons, and the paranormal, and it has always influenced my creativity. These interests have inspired me throughout my education, despite the persuasion to be more acceptable. I attended The School of the Art Institute of Chicago for a short time, but realized I like learning on my own. Digital painting is my favorite approach to creating. I prefer it because it's easier for me; I don't have to buy materials all the time, it's not messy, and I can do it almost anywhere. Aside from ease of use, the look of digital appeals to me because it's smooth, vibrant and consistent. Over the years, my characters have evolved from cartoon animals to bizarre monsters. Sometimes I will create more detailed, realistic characters, and other times they're just simple cartoons. I like to experiment with different styles, but one thing that has always stayed the same is my desire to combine the humorous with the creepy." G Fresh Gallery, 400 W. Walnut, presents Featured Artists Ann Marie Rausch and Jennifer Leeper in October. Ann Marie Rausch is Fresh's resident three-dimensional painter. Rausch is a planner and it is expressed quite clearly in her painting. Rausch finds a piece of furniture that speaks to her. She then draws a scaled replica of the piece and sketches possible designs. Once a design is decided upon, she plots the colors. Rausch, who holds a bachelor's degree in Architecture and Design from Kansas State University, started pursuing a full-time career in art as her family grew up. Her initial interest was in watercolor illustrations for children's books, but during that time she discovered acrylics, furniture and wall murals. The rest is colorful, whimsical, fantastic history. Jennifer Leeper is both an artist and an educator. An MSU graduate who has been teaching K-12 art for 10 years, Leeper works in colored pencil, graphite and charcoal. She chooses her subject and begins laying down a general sketch, then adds layer after layer of detail, contrast and value to create realistic pieces that represent her love of farm and rodeo life. While Leeper appreciates the impressionistic art of others, she prefers to create realistic pieces. One look at any of her farm drawings is proof that she has perfected her craft. The level of detail is astonishing and well worth a trip to Fresh Gallery. www.freshgallery.org (417) 862-9300
